Reports to: Campaigns and Communications Manager

Period: Ideally be able to commit to 2-3 days per week for a minimum of 3 months- Starting ASAP

Purpose of the role:

Want to support an international development NGO with its communications, social media and online fundraising campaigns? The Hunger Project UK needs you!

We are a small west London-based NGO that is committed to ending extreme hunger and poverty by 2030. The Hunger Project is known for its work empowering women as key change agents in the fight against hunger in Africa, Asia and Latin America, and for innovative food campaigns and fundraising in the UK.

Responsibilities:

- Creating content for social media channels, particularly Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and LinkedIn and being a part of building our community online
- Writing for our website: blog posts and news stories
- Producing graphics and digital leaflets for our online campaigns and activities
- Outreach and recruiting support for our fundraising initiatives

Skills & Qualifications:

- Excellent writing skills in English
- Good interpersonal and communications skills
- Understanding of all social media channels, particularly Facebook, Twitter and Instagram, and experience using them in a professional context preferred
- Knowledge of graphics platforms like Canva, and/or Photoshop, Indesign and Adobe
- Tech-minded. A knowledge of Wordpress is great, or a willingness to learn
- An understanding of video editing and photo editing software (desirable)
- Self-starter with the ability to use own initiative and work independently
- An interest in international development, women's empowerment and The Hunger Project's work
- Someone who is willing to get 'stuck in' with the work of a small NGO

Lunch allowance and reimbursement of travel and work related expenses if you come into the office.

Home-based work also possible.

Time Commitment

Ideally be able to commit 2-3 days a week for a minimum 3 month period.

About The Hunger Project UK:

The Hunger Project works in 13,000 communities in Asia, Africa and Latin America, empowering women and men to lift themselves and their families, above the poverty line.

The Hunger Project is one of the world's foremost agencies in developing women's leadership to end hunger and poverty, with strategies including empowering women in local democracy in India, building a movement of women leaders in Bangladesh, strengthening the capacity of indigenous leaders in Latin America, and creating and establishing women-owned and women-run rural banks in Africa.
